Book Discussion & Cooking Demo

UA Campus Store Lower Level @ Community Engagement Center

Combining community scholarly insights, cooking tips, and recipes, this book examines how the blending of culinary traditions enables marginalized people to thrive in places fraught with racial tension, anti-immigrant sentiment, and the threat of gentrification. Chefs and entrepreneurs matter in these stories, but so do dishwashers, farm laborers, and immigrants doing the best they can with the ingredients they have. Come listen to a panel with editors and contributors Dr. Tyina Steptoe and Dr. Jerome Dotson! Discussion will be followed by a cooking demonstration.
